Our History

In the vibrant early 2000s, Occhi Arts & Entertainment was born from a vision to celebrate creativity and amplify the voices of artists across the globe.

Originally launched as a hybrid digital blog, under the creative guidance of the late Tiffany Unscripted, Occhi quickly became a dynamic platform for showcasing rising talent. With contributors spread across the US and Canada, Occhi's reach extended far beyond its New York roots, connecting creative communities worldwide.

Today, under the leadership of David Emmanuel Noel, an interdisciplinary artist, curator, and RSA Fellow with over 30 years of experience, Occhi has evolved into a multifaceted agency. David's extensive background—spanning business development, public events, and community initiatives—has shaped Occhi into a brand that doesn't just promote art but nurtures it. His passion for the arts, combined with his professional expertise, ensures that Occhi remains a trusted partner for artists and creative businesses alike.

Our Mission: Empowering Creativity

At Occhi Arts & Entertainment, our mission is simple yet profound: to be the primary go-to agency for visual, performing, and spoken word artists seeking representation, marketing support, and career development. We aim to bring art to the broadest spectrum of society, including those in socially and economically deprived communities. Through strategic partnerships, innovative campaigns, and a commitment to excellence, we're redefining how the arts are experienced and celebrated.
